AS WE SAT ON DEADLINE NIGHT
IT'S BEEN SUCH A STRUGGLE AND A FIGHT
PICTURES, LAYOUTS, WRITEUPS, TOO
PRETTY SOON THIS WILL BE DUE
SO MANY PICTURES OF ALL SORTS
SENIORS, UNDERCLASSMEN, TEACHERS, SPORTS
WHAT IFS, STORIES, CLUBS, CLASS WILL
IF THIS DOESN'T MAKE IT TO THE PRINTERS
WE'RE GONNA KILL
CLOSER AND CLOSER THE DEADLINES CREPT
WE PUT IN SO MUCH TIME, HOW WE HURRIED
NOW IT'S ALL OVER, SUCH HEADACHES, HOW WE WORRIED
NO MATTER HOW MUCH TIME WE SPEND
IT IS ALL WORTH IT IN THE END

Dear Mom and Dad,

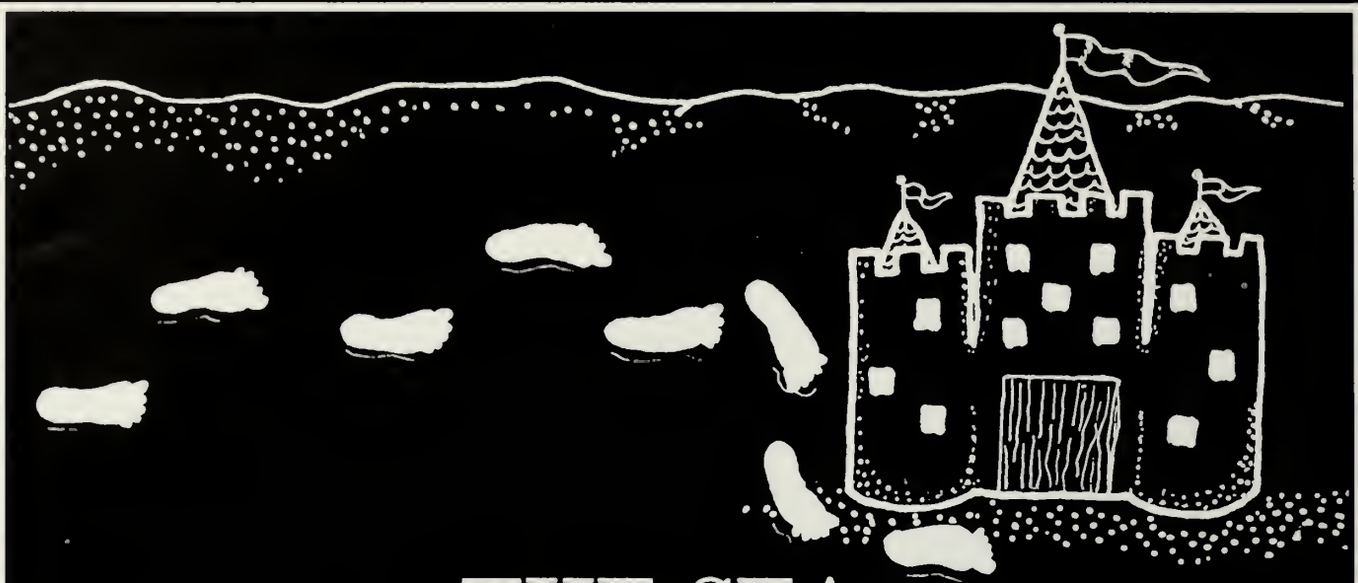
We just wanted to take this opportunity to express our feelings of love and appreciation. Throughout the different stages of our lives, you have always been there to listen, advise and care.

You have stood by us through all of our trials and tribulations and believed in us when others may have had their doubts.

Your never ending support has enabled us to grow into the strong individuals that we are today.

It is with great love and respect that we dedicate our yearbook to you, Mom and Dad.

Love,
The Class of 1988



THE SEA

Because we are a coastal town, much of our life revolves around the sea. On lazy summer days many of us can be found on the beach and throughout the year the evenings still find us there. The seashore, besides being a place for socializing, can be seen as a metaphor for our lives, reflecting how we've grown and changed. Like the shifting of the tides and the rise and fall of the waves, our lives have experienced many abrupt and unpredictable changes. Hopefully we've reached some sort of stability. Like the vastness of the ocean, our lives will be as far reaching as the horizons on the sea. Our pearls of wisdom have been our teachers who have helped prepare us for the challenges that life may present us. Thanks to all who have lent us their support . . . our parents and families, friends and school. We believe that we have what it takes to set our sails in the direction of our goals amd that we will have the strength to overcome any barriers that life puts in our paths.

ZANY, KOOKY ANTICS FROM A LOONY-TUNE

It was June, 1998, and once again, it was time for another crazy, loony, class of '88 reunion. The only thing needed was a house to wreck, and Jan Peters graciously offere hers. By the time the bulk of the guests arrived, financial analyst Alan Mackey was already lolling by the pool sipping a tonic and reading the Wall Street Journal.
"My heavens!" he suddenly exploded. "Some fool has won the lottery and hasn't collected it yet!"
"What were the numbers?" an interested Ian Knox inquired.
After hearing them, Ian raced to the door, and was last seen heading for his car. On the way out, he nearly bumped into pro WWF tagteam wrestlers: Dongie "Bad Boy Bennett, and Chris "Completely Insane" Conley. Although they were teammates, Chris suddenly threw Doug into the pool and proceeded to dive in after him, eager fo battle. Meanwhile, topside, Jay Marsac and Julie Bowdoin were treading water.
"Hey, Julie," Jay snickered. "Go down to the bottom of the pool and smell the new paint."
"O.K." Julie then submerged, to the horror of Jay.
Across the water, President of the United States Carolan Hurley and Vice President Joe Mazza lolled in the water, discussing their plan to nationally lower the price o jewelry. No-one even guessed that, in a nearby tree, John "Body Bag" Atkinson was aiming his high-caliber spud gun at the first lady President. (Actually, John appearance was caused by a dreaming Fred Willshire, who, as everybody knows, has the ability to create reality from mere dreamstuff. In other words, Fred knew abou Carolan's impending doom, but he was also asleep in the jacuzzi, so he couldn't warn her.) Luckily, Officer Bob Pattison saved the day, as he controlled the situation with h quick thinking.
"Wow, you're a real hero, Bob," marvelled Michelle Meagher, after John was taken away.
"All in a day's work, Ma'am. Just good, old-fashioned police work."
Arch Bishop Dennis Leary later awarded Bob with the Nobel Peace prize.
Over towards the house, there were more developing problems.
"Oh shoot," Michele Casolaro cried. "I ripped my new bathing suit."
Master fashion designer Samantha Platt quickly rushed to the scene of distress and pulled out her needle and thread.
"Here, let me mend that for you," she offered.
"Hey, is this like the Platt 'Mendment?" That comment came from welfare recipient Peter Kasperowicz. He was quickly silenced with a standard Casolaro rabbit-punch Before Seamstress Sam could finish, the doors again swung open to reveal the most successful business venture that C.H.S. ever produced. Melinda Bonnano and Kristi Green were the owners, and manager Charles Sturdy was happy to tell all of their new found fame and fortune.
"When we started the Green/Bonnano Fresh Fruit Company . . . " Chuck was rudely interrupted by a howling Greg Baker, who seemed to feel that their name was to goofy. David Shumaker seemed to feel differently.
"I think that the Green/Bonnano company is the best thing that ever happened to fruit. You should eat more fresh fruit yourself, Greg," admonished Dave. The whol discussion was again interrupted by another strong voice: "You better shower before you get in MY pool!" It belonged to Jan Peters, and it was directed at a muddy, unclea Kerry Kirkendall.
"I guess this is the price you pay when you're head of the Boston Manhole Surveillance Committee." Kerry whispered under her breath. Unfortunately, mailman Adam Whitman caught wind of it and immediately brought it to the attention of Erica Ford.
"I guess some of us are more successful that others . . . " sighed Adam.
"Now, you leave her alone. Kerry is very happy with her job. Why, she's been interested in Boston's manholes since she was very little." Erica then went off talking abou her "Save the Whales" campaign, so Adam left.
Architect Todd DeCruz had just arrived, and was ready to take the plunge when Heather St. Onge came running out of the house.
"Todd!" she cried. "You have to help me! I just bought a house, and I can't decide whether my phone number should be listed under 'S' or 'O'."
Todd could not figure it out, so he dove into the pool, just missing super-recording star "The Burner" Joy Turner by one-fifth of a pica. Joy had brought along her five-pie backup band; consisting of Steven Sont on the glockenspiel, Liz Muncey on the phone, Christian Richards on the air-drum set, Ed Hayes on his original creation, "T GoldenBermuda Triangle" and Chip O'Brien, who filled in vocally with any other sound that the group could possibly need. Scott Caristo, world traveller and reco purchaser of Bolivia, suggested that "The Burner" and her band play a ditty or two. Soon, all the instruments were gathered, and the band belted out a beautiful renditio "Rich", a piece written as a tribute to Rich Hynes.
(Rich had, four years ago, set off towards distant Pluto, and was never seen again. Interestingly enough, Vicky Kelly had made the same journey three years earlier.)
The group's second number, "Body Unctions", had a special significance to the gang, as it was written by the "dynamic duo" of rock music: Sean Fitzsimmons and M Anderson. However, the song was not enjoyed by all.
"That is so foul," remarked Becky McCarthy.
"Oh, I think it's sooo cute," countered Sarah Hamilton.
"I know that I'M psyched," Deb Dormer summed up.
Once again, the bash was interrupted, this time by Bryan Edwards (who had ended up pursuing his dream of holding down a boring, 9-5 job.) "Listen up, everybody, it's news!" Everyone stood quietly so the news could be heard.
"Good evening, Boston. I'm Glen Froio . . . "
"And I'm Tracy Arnold."
"Today's top story," continued Glen. "C.I.A. agent Joe Laggroteria has allegedly given secrets to the Kremlin after being tortured."
"Excuse me, Glen; this just in. Apparently, the Soviets forced Laggroteria to wear socks for extended periods of time. After three minutes, he gave in and revea everything."
"Thank you, Tracy. In other news, basketball superstar Cindy Spooner recently underwent an operation to remove, once and for all, her bad leg. Doctors say sh recovering nicely, and is eager to switch sports from basketball to hop scotch. And now, the weather with Rick Abbadessa . . . "
"Well, Glen, now that it's summer, it's generally going to stay warm. However, come three months from now, we will be experiencing a cooling trend, that, in perh another three months, will result in snow. Back to you, Glen . . . "
Bryan turned off the set, but not before he caught a glimpse of Michelle Migliaccio, the new host of the Home Shopping Network.
Margo Nedrow stood in the center of the bash, commenting on how nicely everyone was coming along. Soon, Kim Wolfe walked by with a huge grin on her face. Th Twilda Shennette did the same.
"Hey, Twilda? What's so funny?" Margo asked politely.
"Look at Adam Durant! Ha, ha!"
Margo looked at Adam and laughed insanely. Adam was dressed in overalls and was carrying two wood-smoothing devices. Apparently, he was a carpenter.
"Ha! He always was interested in planes!"
As if one near-assassination wasn't enough, the doors once again burst open to reveal three masked figures (later discovered to be Jim Rourke, David Shultz, and T Fitzpatrick.) They were holding a firehose, and it was pointed at none other than Mary Beth McNamara. She shrieked, but it was too late. The force of the pressurized wa drove her into the pool, and the three masked men were gone. Nurse Kathy Conte rushed to the gruesome scene.
"Are you alright?"
"Yeah, I'm used to it now. Every year it gets worse. Remember the last reunion? It was giant water balloons last year . . . "
"I thought it was a giant bucket of water last year . . . " John Grant speculated.
"No," Jody MacNeil recalled. "That was two reunions ago."
"Oh."
It was noticed that Jen Coley as extremely happy with her job. She had become the head creative consultant for the Burger Guy food chain companies. "I'm thinkin changing our name to McDonald's," she revealed.
Televangelist and Presidential hopeful James Hoffman was involved in a horrendous scandal: his flock accused him of sleeping with a teddy bear.
"How could he possibly expect to become president?" Julie Anstead marvelled.
"It's possible," Bill Reed explained. "If Ian Smart can become Pope, why can't Jamie become president?"
Everything came to a stop once more, as the crowd noticed that Steve Myers was about to perform one of his trademark dives. He bounced thrice, his body in a perfectly f motion, but as he neared the water, he saw a pretty girl, and landed flat on his back. The crowd was silent. Two of the three judges winced. Brett Lincoln gave him a 0.2, Holly Pompeo gave him (Lim 1/N as N approaches infinity.) The third judge, Rich Redick, gave Steve a perfect 10.0 for effort.

CLASS

— Peter Kasperowicz

The silence was broken by Chris McLaughlin.
Just then, Danny Bickerstaff emerged from the pool, and he was soon surrounded by Jill Bradley and Kirsten Pounder.
"C'mon, let's bust up a rhyme!" Kirsten expressed.
"Yeah, I'm the rhyme master, creator/designer . . ." Jill added.
"Girls," Danny begged. "Please, no more rapping. I . . . I've lost my touch . . ."
It took psychiatrist Melissa Greiner two hours to console Danny. She merely convinced him that he hadn't lost his touch, and that he had simply used up every last rhyme in the English language. She then recommended him to Abby Adams, master of the French language.'
"Think of it as starting over, only this time in French . . ."
When Abby heard this news, she leapt into the pool. As she descended, however, the water suddenly disappeared, as Derek Lacks, Matt Maloney, and Mike Smith got out of the water. (They had continued to grow even after high school, and had reached the respective heights of 13'9", 41'2", and 17'4".) Luckily, Abadab was caught by Cleveland Indians' centerfielder Jim Maguire. Unfortunately, Jim proceeded to throw Ab to second base.
"Hey," Joe Marks screamed. "Get back in the pool, you three! I want to swim!"
As the three giants got back in, the water level rose.
"Wow, just like in the cartoons . . ." George Sechen marvelled.
Meanwhile, on the other end of the pool, secrets were being told.
"Hey," Teri Stover whispered.
"Yeah?" Heather Ripley answered.
"Did you hear about the Lelecas'? One of them went to the North Pole, and the other went to the South Pole, but I forget which one went where . . ."
"I know," Heather beamed. "Nick went North. Nick and North start with 'N'; that's how I remember. But why did they go in the first place?"
"I think it was for symbolic reasons . . ." Teri pondered.
"No," Craig Mulcahy interrupted. "They're trying to take over the world, right?"
"You're all wrong," Heath Larson announced. "They're trying to break a Guiness record, although I must say that they're going to great extremes."
Heath was always so witty.
(By the way, everyone was really impressed with John Linsley: He had finally achieved God-hood. "Yeah, it's official now," He said, showing His diploma to the masses.)
"Hey, look!" barked executive hair designer Pete Sandblom. "It's Amanda Sweeney! Hey, Amanda, sing 'Somewhere Over the Rainbow' for us!"
"Please do, you sing it so well . . ." Leslie O'Grady agreed.
Amanda reacted strangely. She turned bright red and started screaming at everyone to leave her alone. Then she picked up both Pete and Leslie and threw them into the pool, as if they were rag dolls. When they kept hounding her, things got really ugly: Amanda said the "S" word.
"Stop!"
When she was calmed down, the crowd was much relieved.
'5Whew!" Anna Hurley said to Lauren Kalita. "Thank John Linsley no-one was hurt."
"What?" Lauren begged pardon.
"I said, 'Thank John Linsley no-one was hurt.' "
"What?"
"Nothing. I coughed. Never mind."
Meanwhile, Jen McAuliffe was bragging to Garrett Hunt about the new girl's club she and some friends were forming.
"Well, who else is in it?" Garrett asked.
"Well, me, Gretchen Pattison, Holly Ludlow, Colleen Geary, Lisa Harris, and Jen Endris." explained Jen.
"What are you going to call yourselves?"
"Well, we're thinking of taking the first letter of each of our last names. That way, we'd have a six letter word."
Garrett laughed. "Make sure you do it in this order: Pattison, Harris, Ludlow, Endris, Geary, McAuliffe."
Before Jen could think about it, Jen Aaron asked a most startling question: "Hey, has anyone seen Laura Kuhn?" This was a real thinker.
"I think she's in the U.S. . . ." Jenna Winn suggested.
"I heard she joined a foreign army somewhere . . ." Pete Buckley murmured.
"You only thought you heard that, silly . . ." said Steve Carroll.
"I saw her dad about three weeks ago at the Log 'N Line . . ." Jen Salerno offered.
"That's a good start," some zany person said.
After about two hours of heated debate, the gang came to the conclusion that no one was really sure just where Laura Kuhn was.
One of the nicer aspects of the reunion was the reacquainting of old acquaintances.
"Hey, a remember me?" Kostas Roukounakis asked.
"Um . . . um . . ." Marge Murphy stammered.
"It's me, Kostas. Remember?"
"Kostas? Um . . . Oh yeah! You gave me gas! I mean . . . er . . ." But before an apology could be accepted, well . . . it had to happen. It started when Ray Rosano yelled, "Hey! Who let you in?"
"Well, I . . ."
"No buts, buddy," Ron Massa grimaced. "Get out of here right away, before you get hurt." Ron waved a menacing fist.
"Alright, I'll leave."
"Who was that? Who just left?" an inquisitive Keri Cullinane yammered.
"It was Lud. This is a private party," Ray stated.
By now, it was around 10:30. "Boy," Lisa Bryan observed. "How many more people do we have to fit into this kooky story?"
"Patience, Lisa," Alicia Mattes smiled. "Be thankful that we have been blessed with such a large graduating class."
Just then, all heck broke loose. "Hey Gang! Over here! We've just invented a new team sport!" Dennis Jones exalted.
The gang moved in for a closer look, and saw Jeni Lyons, Laura Redick, and Heather Doherty in the pool. Dan Pompeo was on the diving board, ready to leap. Dennis explained:
'5Dan has to jump as far as he can into the water. If he hits Jeni, Laura, or Heather, he's disqualified, and I win. I've already gone, and I just barely cleared Heather. I'm betting that he hits Heather; she's the farthest out."
"Heather!" Erin Powell yelled. "Get out of there! Don't be silly!"
"It's O.K., Er, it's kind of fun." Before there were any more objections, Dan bounced into the air. Fortunately, he hit the water. Unfortunately, be landed on Heather first.
"Alright! I win!" Dennis burped.
"This is really disgusting; I'm not watching this anymore." Laurel Collins quipped.
"Hey, Dennis," Dan called. "We're going to need a sub for Heather. She's pretty banged up."
Dennis turned to the crowd. "Anyone want to sub for Heather?" "I won't sub, but I'll play you . . ." Rob Ross offered. "And I'll play the winner," Andy Nawn cackled with delight. The game ended when Deb Hartley and Liz O'leary sawed the diving board off right when Ian Sullivan needed it the most: mid-bounce.
"I'm really glad that Deb and Liz put an end to that silly game," Coleby Mantz cheered.
"I didn't see any purpose in those goofy shenanigans . . ." Katie Tolini agreed.
By now it was really late: 12:30. Things were slowing down, and everyone agreed to sit for a moment of silence. The class of '88 thought of the good times, and the bad times. They recalled old friends who moved away; friends who had almost graduated from C.H.S., but not quite. Above all, they vowed to always remember their old friends and their influential teachers. Then, at last, each person rose silently, and looked upon each other person so as to remember every last detail. Sure. There would be more fun and more frolicking. There would be more reliving of the good old days, more unforgettable antics, and more stories to tell. But, alas, all that would have to wait.

Until next week's reunion.

A key ingredient to the success of Cohasset's season was the leadership and cooperation of all the senior players. The seniors provided the right chemistry for maintaining a high level of competition throughout the year. The ultimate reward, which was a share of South Shore League Championship. as a fitting tribute to the senior class members of the 1987 Football team. As a coach I would especially like to thank the "fringe" players who came to the forefront and helped make the chemistry work.

South Shore League Shamps, South Sectonal Champs, E. Mass. Champs, State Finalists, Seven South Shore League All-Stars, Three Patriot Ledger All-Stars and Three E. Mass. All-Stars — What more could a team ask for? How about less — one second less. Great Leadership, poise and desire by the following seniors helped us on this grand adventure of a season: Todd Fitzpatrick (school record — most points-68), Ian Smart, Jay Marsac, Danny Pompeo, Steve Myers, David Shultz, John Linsley, Kostas R., George Sechen. The bottom line is . . . "we got dawged!"

Congratulations to Todd Fitzpatrick, a senior captain who broke the boys soccer scoring record. Todd had 42 goals and 26 assists, which gave him a 68 point high school total.

The Girls Soccer team had a very successful season, in addition it was the second best season ever! Senior co-captains, Jen, Kerry, and Liz, all helped the team out by providing it with proper leadership. It was the first time ever that the team tied DUXBURY, and for that they are very grateful. They had a very young team, and the seniors will be greatly missed.

This year's hockey team may have been few in numbers, but they made up for that through hard work and dedication. Being outnumbered the entire season, the Skippers still managed an impressive 13-3 league record which qualified them for the state tournament for the second straight year. They were seeded in the top three of the south section and have made it to the semi finals.

The Girl's Basketball team had a season of seasons, amassing the best winning percentage in the history of girls basketball(21-1) at CHS. The team won the South Shore Small Schools League Championship for the second straight year. They also successfully defended their Hall of Fame Classic Tournament Champoinship, and won the George H. Mealy American Legion Post #118 Tournament for the sixth straight year. The skippers enter the post season tournament as favored to win Division 3.

Liz O'Leary shattered her own steal record from last year when she broke Janet DiGirolamo's mark of 92 by amassing 94. This year she blew the record out of the water by netting 158 steals in 22 games.

The 1987-88 season was another successful one for the Cohasset Drama Workshop. In October the group began with a unique production of TWELVE ANGRY JURORS which involved the audience directly with the actors. From here CHS actors and acctresses moved on to present two new one act plays and welcomed the authors of these works to view and discuss them with the performers and the audience. The first play, ACT THREE, SCENE FIVE, featured a rehearsal of ROMEO AND JULIET. The second show, FORTRESS, later moved on to the Finals of the Massachusetts High School Drama Festival and numerous acting awards for CHS performers. One judge called it "an exciting, vibrant piece of work!" Joe Mazza and Michele Casolaro were praised for their individual work while the rest of the cast was labeled as "brilliant" and greeted with comments such as "This is the best ensemble work I have seen in five years of judging for the Drama Festival."

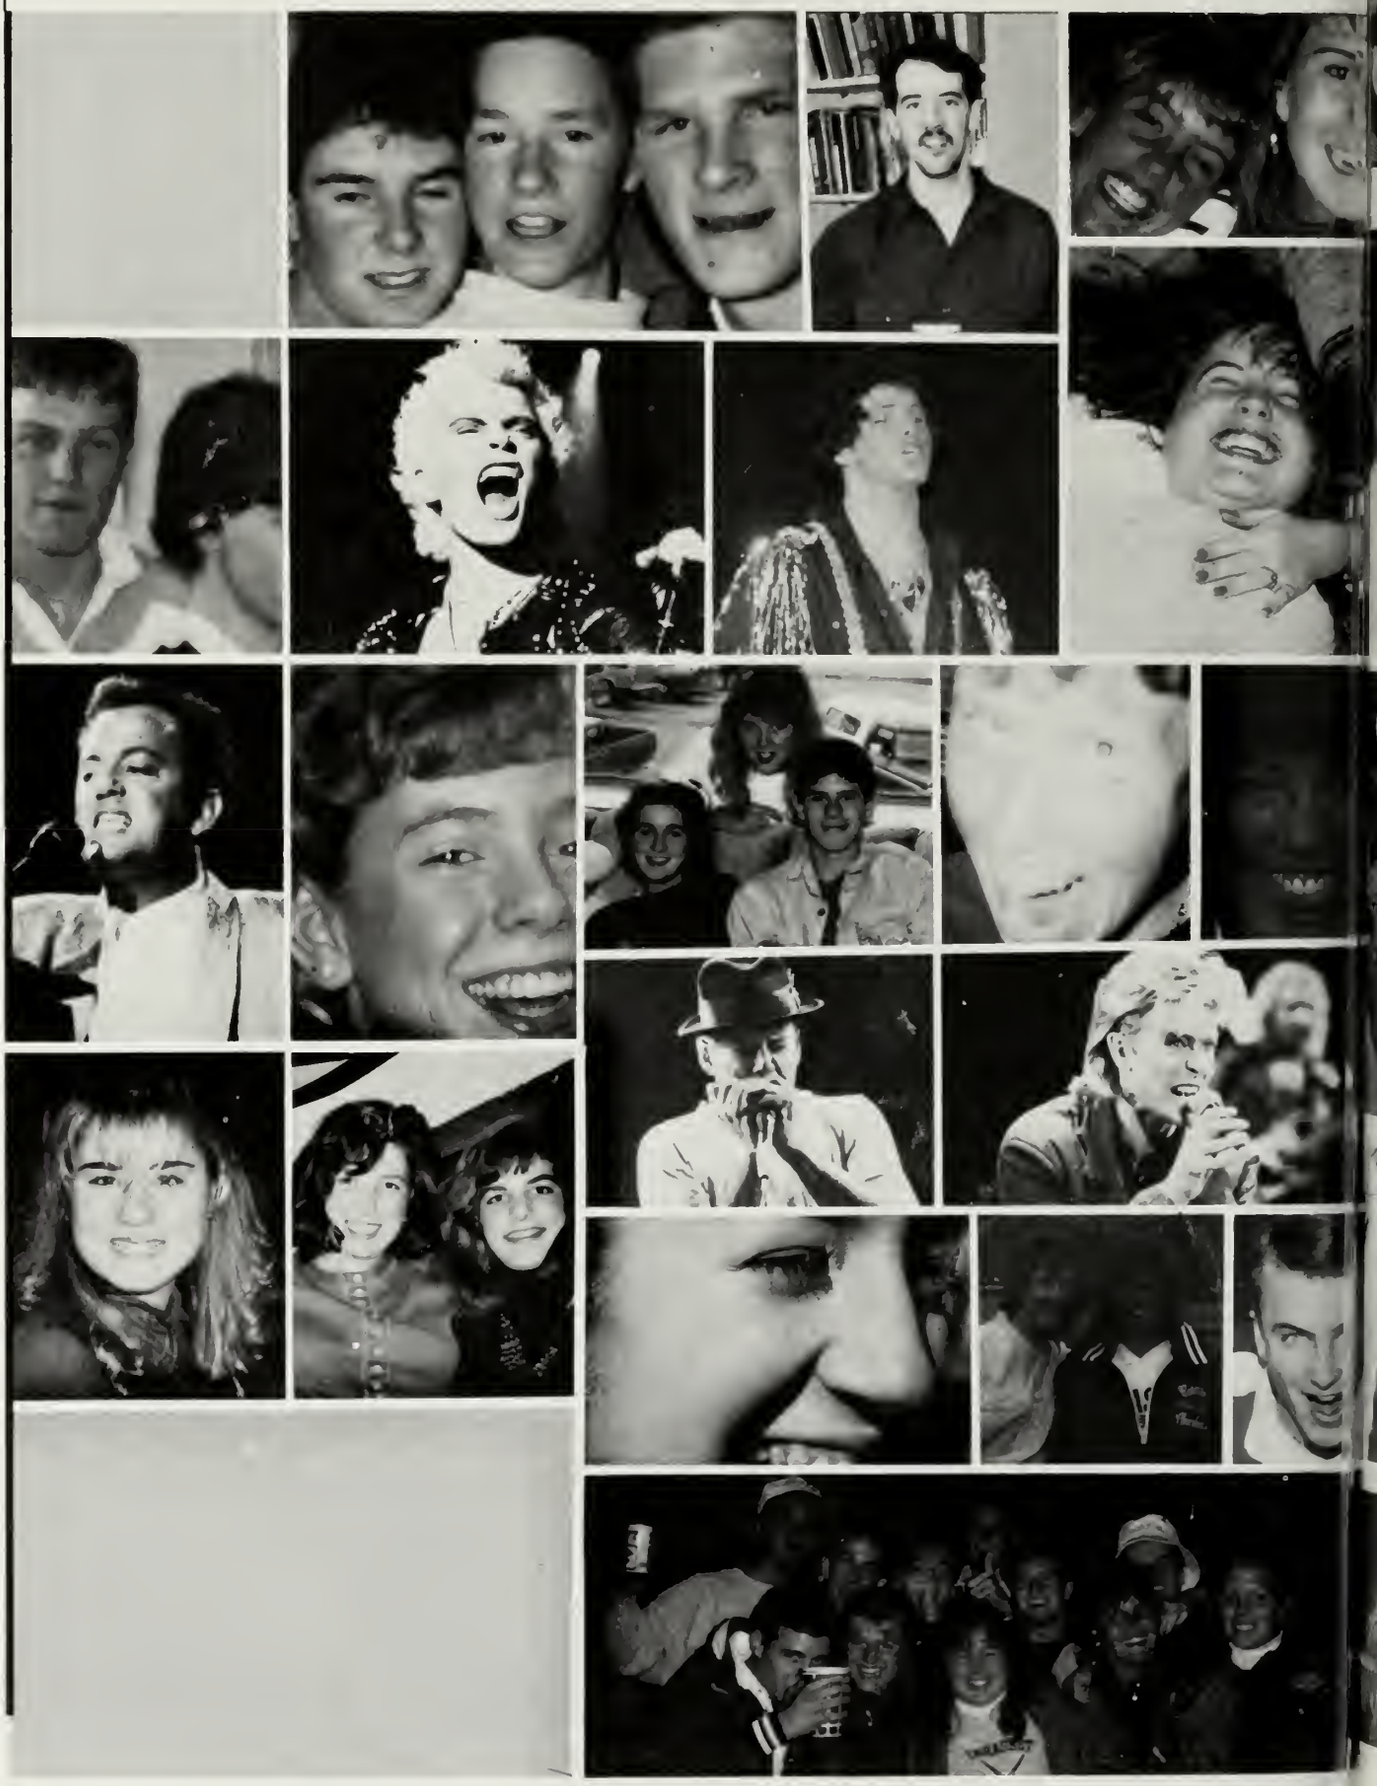
"HIT OF THE YEAR!"

THE SCARLET LETTER



You were about to say, Holley?

And whose arm is that?

What are you on, GLUE?

uh-oh, what did Mom find?

1, 2 Freddy's comein' for you!

YO, What's up?

"KEEEVVVVINNN!"

Are you cheating on Danny?

Problem Steve?!?

Isn't he very Special!

HUGE

"I wanna dance with DAN'S body . . . "

No more NOISES!!

"Oh You NASTY BOYS!"

THE SEDUCTION

THE WAY

WE WERE

"Memories are windows that hold the past in view — through them we can see again each joy we ever knew."

WHAT IS A SENIOR?

SENIOR / 'SE-NYER/H: A PERSON WHO IS OLDER OR OF HIGHER RANK.
— AN EXAMPLE FOR OTHERS TO FOLLOW.
— ONE WHO MAKES CHICKEN NOISES.
— TOO OLD FOR THE BUS.
— LEGAL IN PLYMOUTH.
— A SNAKE!
— UNDERPRIVILEDGED!
— PART OF OUR OWN ELITE GROUP.
— ONE WHO FORGETS MORE IN 1 SUMMER THAN HE LEARNED IN 12 YEARS.
— A COPS BEST FRIEND.
— A STATE OF MIND.
— ONE WHO DOESN'T CARE ANYMORE.
— THE BEGINNING OF THE END.
— A TEACHERS WORST NIGHTMARE!
. . . AND MOST IMPORTANTLY A SENIOR IS AT THE BEACH AS OF MAY!

WHAT IS AN UNDERCLASSMAN?

UNDERCLASSMAN /UN-DER-KLAS-MEN/: ONE WHO IS NOT A SENIOR. — CONTRARY TO POPULAR BELIEF NOT A "REBEL LEGEND"! — A MARATHON WEIGHTLIFTER. — ONE TO BEAT UP IN GYM CLASS. — A RAVER. — LIVING OUT THE EFFECTS OF SNOW DAYS. — AN UNFAVORABLE SITUATION. — FORGETFUL. — A BLACK DOG THAT'S NOT A CHICKEN. — DEVOTED FANS. — AN OVERACHIEVER. — UNWANTED AT PARTIES (EXCEPT EXCEPTIONS). — ONE WHO WANTS TO BE A SENIOR. — ONE WHO IS NOT GRADUATING! . . . BUT MOST IMPORTANTLY, AN UNDERCLASSMAN IS STILL IN SCHOOL JUNE 1!

The Beauty Experience

It's A Family Affair

Our Full Service Salon takes special pleasure in welcoming all the members of your family and happily anticipates giving the very best in style and service to Mom, Dad, Big Sister and Little Brother . . . right on down to Tiniest Tot. It's never too soon for children to begin to learn the important lessons of beauty; lessons that teach them principles of grooming discipline, cleanliness, order and contemplation, which will stand them in good stead later in life. Vanity, a much maligned virtue in modern life, is perhaps not so bad a beginning for youngsters who will soon be seeking positions in a society that frequently equates personal appearance and style with aptitude and potential. Think about it. And when you make your next appointment . . make it a family affair you'll ALL enjoy the good looks!!

For your pleasure in Hair and Beauty Care . . . FIVE TOP professional specialists (Separate Men & Boys Stylist)
